Evidence-MAD

Multi-Agent Debate System -- Independent retrieval, evidence comparison, conflict-aware debate.

Ask the system

attention is all u need is published in 2017

Solve question | Demo mode (offline) | Completed

STEP 1 -- INDEPENDENT AGENT EVIDENCE

Web Agent (DuckDuckGo) OK

Yes, the paper "Attention Is All You Need" was published in 2017.

Attention Is All You Need - Wikipedia

Reference Agent (Wikipedia) OK

Yes, the paper "Attention Is All You Need" was published in 2017.

Attention Is All You Need

AI Answer Agent OK

The exact title "attention is all u need" cannot be verified; assuming it is a typo for "Attention Is All You Need," yes, that paper was published in 2017.

Gemini API rate limit or quota exceeded — OpenCode fallback used

STEP 2 -- EVIDENCE COMPARISON

DISAGREEMENT -- conflict detected, debate triggered

At least one pair exceeded contradiction threshold (0.7): score=0.900

AGENT A	AGENT B	LABEL	CONTRADICTION	ENTAILMENT
Web Agent (DuckDuckGo)	Reference Agent (Wikipedia)	ENTAILMENT	0.000	1.000
Web Agent (DuckDuckGo)	AI Answer Agent	CONTRADICTION	0.900	0.100
Reference Agent (Wikipedia)	AI Answer Agent	CONTRADICTION	0.900	0.100

STEP 3 -- CONFLICT AND DEBATE

Conflict Type: SOURCE

Both claims agree that the paper 'Attention Is All You Need' was published in 2017. The difference lies in the source's approach to verification: Claim A asserts the fact directly, while Claim B expresses uncertainty about the exact title match (noting it as a potential typo) before confirming the publication year. This reflects a difference in source reliability, verification standards, or provenance rather than a factual, temporal, version, or contextual disagreement.

CLAIM A (WEB AGENT (DUCKDUCKGO))

Yes, the paper "Attention Is All You Need" was published in 2017.

CLAIM B (AI ANSWER AGENT)

The exact title "attention is all u need" cannot be verified; assuming it is a typo for "Attention Is All You Need," yes, that paper was published in 2017.

Debate Transcript

ROUND 1 -- PROPOSER

POSITION
The paper "Attention Is All You Need" was published in 2017.

EVIDENCE REVIEW
Claim A: Supports the assertion that the paper was published in 2017, treating the title as a direct match without qualification.
Claim B: Supports the assertion that the paper was published in 2017, but conditions this on the assumption that the informal title "attention is all u need" is a typo for the formal title "Attention Is All You Need."

REASONING
The core issue is not a factual disagreement regarding the publication date, as both sources agree on 2017. The conflict arises from the level of verification applied to the title. Claim B demonstrates higher source reliability and provenance awareness by identifying the discrepancy between the informal query and the formal academic title. However, since the underlying fact (publication year) is identical and the title discrepancy is a minor linguistic variation rather than a different work, the factual conclusion remains unchanged. The stronger position is the confirmed fact of the 2017 publication, with the understanding that the title refers to the standard academic paper.

SOURCE BASIS
Both claims reference the publication year 2017 for the work commonly known as "Attention Is All You Need." Claim B explicitly references the formal title "Attention Is All You Need" as the verified entity.

CONCLUSION
The paper "Attention Is All You Need" was published in 2017.

ROUND 1 -- CRITIC

ISSUE
The proposal fails to cite specific primary sources such as the arXiv identifier or the NeurIPS 2017 proceedings to substantiate the publication date.
WHY IT MATTERS
In a source conflict debate, relying on general agreement between agents without citing the actual bibliographic record weakens the evidentiary basis of the conclusion.
IMPROVEMENT
Explicitly reference the arXiv preprint (arXiv:1706.03762) submitted in June 2017 and its acceptance at the 2017 Conference on Neural Information Processing Systems (NeurIPS) to provide concrete source verification.

ROUND 1 -- CRITIC

ISSUE
The reasoning section conflates the informal query title with the formal title without explicitly stating that the informal title is not a valid bibliographic reference.
WHY IT MATTERS
This ambiguity could lead to confusion regarding whether the informal title is an accepted variant or merely a user error, which is central to resolving the source conflict.
IMPROVEMENT
Clarify that "attention is all u need" is not a recognized academic title and that the resolution of the conflict depends on mapping the informal query to the canonical title "Attention Is All You Need" before verifying the date.

Judge Verdict

WINNER	CONFIDENCE	EVIDENCE	REASONING
candidate_1	90%	0.72	0.75

Candidate 1 directly supports the 2017 publication and provides a verifiable source, whereas Candidate 2 offers only an assumption and no source. Although Wikipedia is not primary, it is stronger evidence than an unsourced conditional answer.

STEP 4 -- FINAL ANSWER

LATENCY	USABLE AGENTS	FAILED AGENTS	LLM OK
20.72s	3	0	9

LLM FAILED	DEBATE ROUNDS
0	1

Final Answer

A SOURCE conflict was detected and resolved through structured debate.

Resolution: Yes, the paper "Attention Is All You Need" was published in 2017.

Judge's reasoning: Candidate 1 directly supports the 2017 publication and provides a verifiable source, whereas Candidate 2 offers only an assumption and no source. Although Wikipedia is not primary, it is stronger evidence than an unsourced conditional answer.

At least one pair exceeded contradiction threshold (0.7): score=0.900

Sources

1. Attention Is All You Need - Wikipedia
2. Attention Is All You Need
3. [1706.03762] Attention Is All You Need - arXiv.org
4. Attention is All You Need - Google Research
5. Attention Is All You Need
6. PDF Attention Is All You Need - NeurIPS
7. All You Need Is Kill
8. Transformer (deep learning)
9. Attention deficit hyperactivity disorder
10. Attention

▸ Show raw JSON trace

Evidence-MAD -- Evidence-triggered debate with conflict-type-aware strategies.